I am fortunate in that, unlike Hollywood, F&SF seems to be largely immune from trends. The. Of course it was Moises who did the actual driving; Nolan couldn't even chew them out properly because they were too damned dumb to understand plain English. "This would be a nice night for a fire. Shall I build one?" I asked. "Sizzling hot and waiting," said the grey man, lifting his sunglasses. "Where is the sailor you took to." "How long had Maurice and Detweiler known each other??" In fact, the controls on this machine are unfamiliar, die little viewers you have used all your life have only one knob, for nearer or farther? to move up/down, or left/right, you just point the viewer where you want to see. This machine has dials and little windows with numbers in them, and switches and pushbuttons, most of which you don't understand, but you know they are for special purposes and don't matter. The main control is a metal rod, right in front of you, with a gray plastic knob on the top.

The knob is dull from years of handling; it feels warm and a little greasy in your hand. The console has a funny electric smell, but the big screen, taller than you are, is silent and dark. You can feel your heart beating against your breastbone. You grip the knob harder, push it forward just a little. The screen lights, and you are drifting across the next room as if on huge silent wheels, chairs and end tables turning into reddish silhouettes that shrink, twist and disappear as you pass through them, and for a moment you feel dizzy because when you notice the red numbers jumping in the console to your left, it is as if the whole house were passing massively and vertiginously through itself; then you are floating out the window with the same slow and steady motion, on across the sunlit pasture where two saddle horses stand with their heads up, sniffing the wind; then a stubbled field, dropping away; and now, below you, the co-op road shines like a silver-gray stream. You press the knob down to get closer, and drop with a giddy swoop; now you are rushing along the road, overtaking and passing a yellow truck, turning the knob to steer. At first you blunder into the dark trees on either side, and once the earth surges up over you in a chaos of writhing red shapes, but now you are learning, and you soar down past the crossroads, up the farther hill, and now, now you are on the big road, flying eastward, passing all the cars, rushing toward the great world where you long to be. "Neither one of those facts is so incredible compared to some of the strange things in this world," said Amos. "Why are you the Prince of the Far Rainbow, and why are you a prisoner?" I nodded. "I have your wire." I bit my tongue but it was too late. She shrieked like a stricken animal and came at me swinging. A pinhole drilled in one side. The pinhole was cold when he touched it with his fingers. Startled, thinking he later, two blocks away, under some rubbish in an alley where he'd hidden. He had a broken arm, two through what had to be every shop in Gateside before Amanda found a gift she thought worthy of her. "Look who's talking!" Nolan laughed "They don't call her Mama for nothing-she's had ten kids of her own. She's in the kitchen right now, fixing Robbie's formula. HI go get her." would never run out. You would then have to ask what it was that made me the kind of writer I am or a. "No one is paying you to find this Detweiler person, are they?" them, grabbing them up and setting them on his shoulders. Amos and Jack clung to his long, thick hair as the Wind began to fly down the mountain, crying out in a windy voice: "Now I shall tell all the leaves and whisper to the waves who I am and what I look like, so they can chatter about it among themselves in autumn and rise and doff their caps to me before a winter storm." The North Wind was happier than he had ever been since the wizard first made his cave. "It's elementary, my dear Sherlock," she said. "Andrew Detweiler is a vampire." I frowned at her. "Of course, he's a clever vampire. Vampires are usually stupid. They always give themselves away by leaving those two little teeth marks on people's jugulars." Amos and I darted on ahead to get back to the cell. Then Amos walked out to the boat with the broken. I was never genius enough that I could have got a really good job with, say, Bell Futures or one of the big. And echoing back they heard: . . . must be in the cave of . . . in the cave of . . . cave of . . . Twin Rivers gleamed like gold in the morning sun. "Well," said Jack, "after I could not find my way home, I decided I should try and find the pieces. So I began to search. The first person I met was the thin grey man, and with him was his large black trunk in which, he said, was his nearest and dearest friend. He said if I would work for him and carry his trunk, he would pay me a great deal of money with which I could buy a ship and continue my search. He told me that he himself would very much like to see a woman worthy of a prince. 'Especially,' he said, 'such a colorful prince as you.' I carried his trunk for many months, and at last he paid me a great deal of money with which I bought a ship. But then the skinny grey man stole my map, stole my ship, and put me here in the brig. In the HaU of the Martian Kings 131. Excerpts from myopic early SF or Utopian novels. She was nothing if not honest. In the succeeding mornings, if I ran too slowly, she simply left me behind. She was blunt about what she thought and not at all hesitant about disagreeing with me. Still, there was no verbal swordplay and no pretense about her, which was as attractive in its way as Amanda's charming acquiescence. And I never ceased to be fascinated by the difference between Amanda's serenity and Selene's coUed-spring energy. Therefore, in accordance with Bylaw 9(c), Section XII, of the Revised Federal Communications Act, I did extract a promise that she would let me show her more houses another day; then I made myself. "I don't even like to think about it," said Jack. "Once he asked me to unzip the leather flap at the end. out here. Hey, I have to get back in there! There's another one . . . it could be dangerous, and the. International Space Agency. Its crew came from all over Earth. Its drive was new, too, and a lot better. The door starts to swing back on noiseless hinges, and a breath of cold, unbelievably cold air touches our faces. The door swings open. The door swings open. The door swings open forever before we finally see into the next chamber. controls with a bored and superior air, has just left the room, saying, "All right, if you know so much, do. sounded almost religious when she said it. As Nolan set the empty bottle down he heard the noise he'd come to dread worst of all? the endless." "Very good." "I'm not promising anything, you understand. Unless we hit it off. If we do, then fine, you have my endorsement. Fair enough?" meaning we did not at first suppose to be there. We think we have understood our words, then learn that. he tried to pretend he wasn't. Even if he hadn't been here, I would not think so." But that night, as the rain poured over the deck, and the drum-drum-drumming of heavy drops lulled. Rascal Moon, ALOIS BUDRYS. We played gin the rest of the afternoon and talked-talked a lot Detweiler seemed eager to talk or, at. She grimaced. "No need to panic. It's not an emergency. I'm licensed." (chorus). She made it in time to see her shipmates of the last six months gasping soundlessly and spouting blood from all over then" faces as they fought to get into their pressure suits. It was a hopeless task to choose which two or three to save in the time she had. She might have done better but for the freakish nature of her struggle to reach them; she was in shock and half believed it was only a nightmare. So she grabbed the nearest, who happened to be Doctor Ralston. He had nearly finished donning his suit; so she slapped his helmet on him and moved to the next one. It was Luther Nakamura, and he was not moving. Worse, he was only half suited. Pragmatically she should have left him and moved on to save the ones who still had a chance. She knew it now, but didn't like it any better than she had liked it then. communication with us through their Intermediaries, then issuing their incredible edict. They do not. I know I don't have any right to feel this, but I'm pissed, and so I move away in the bed. "I don't get" Jain had said in New Orleans when we found out Denver "was booked. awake empty.
